INTRODUCTION

The Air Force Research Laboratory (AFRL) leads the discovery, development, and delivery of warfighting technologies for our air, space, and cyberspace forces. We're pushing the boundaries to bring the future faster through unparalleled research. As the Department of the Air Force's primary scientific research and development center, AFRL ensures the U.S. warfighters are equipped to keep the fight unfair – today and into the future. To be successful, we must have the right talent, for the right positions, at the right time. This requires a vast array of individuals from all disciplines - science and engineering, technologists, business professionals and many more – all in a non-uniformed capacity!

STUDENT OPPORTUNITIES

- Science and Technology Reinvention Laboratory (STRL) Direct Hire Authority SSEP/PAACTSEP

AFRL's student internship program is aimed at providing scientific, technology, engineering, and mathematics (STEM) and business professional students the opportunity to gain valuable experience in a world-class environment. Candidates interested in applying for this program must be degree seeking. Opportunities may be full-time or part-time at any of the various AFRL locations.

- Premier College Intern Program (PCIP)

Full-time paid 10-12 week summer internships available to current college and university sophomores and juniors. Upon completion of degree program, participants qualify for a full-time position in the PALACE Acquire (PAQ) program.

- PALACE Acquire (PAQ) Program

Offers qualified bachelors and masters graduates a well-planned two or three-year development and training experience. Participants receive full salary, yearly promotions, benefits and repayment of some tuition costs. Upon completion of the program, participants qualify for conversion to a permanent full-time civilian employee position.

- SMART Scholarship

The Science, Mathematics, and Research for Transformation (SMART) Scholarship-for-Service Program offers scholarships to undergraduate, master's and doctoral students who have demonstrated the ability and special aptitude for excelling in STEM fields. SMART Scholars receive a stipend, full tuition and related education expenses, health insurance reimbursement allowance, book allowance, summer internship(s), and post-graduation career opportunities.
